Gorai village lights up with smiles as AEML completes electrification of Jhamjad Pada

Mumbai, May 03, 2019: Families of the tribal village in Gorai who have been waiting to see the light at the end of the tunnel, yesterday evening got together and celebrated as they received power supply after a long wait of 70 years. Adani Electricity Mumbai Ltd. (AEML), the city's largest utility provider that started laying cables in the village of Jhamjad Pada, completed electrification this week.

The diligent team of AEML worked with locals to ensure that the families can start enjoying electricity in their houses as early as possible. On May 03, as the lights were switched on, the villagers came together to celebrate with music and dancing. Children appeared as joyful as the elderly who have been waiting in excitement to see their homes brighten ever since the cable laying work was started by AEML.

Speaking at the occasion, An AEML Spokesperson said, "We are delighted to have completed the electrification of Jhamjad Pada village in Gorai. We have been able to carry out this entire effort with the help of the families of the village. Seeing the faces of these villagers vivify as they saw their homes brightly lit up was extremely satisfying experience. As a customer centric organization, we will continue ensure that all our customers enjoy uninterrupted power supply."

The hilly village located less than 20kms away from the city, Jhamjad Pada has been struggling for more than 10 years. With electrification being completed, the village will see itself coming closer to the city which earlier seemed like a dream looking at the shimmering skyline at a distance on the other side from the island.

The children will now be able to study in light during nighttime and the working individuals will be able venture out in the night without fears as well. Making medical services available to this village will also become easier. With access to electricity, the road for development is paved and a host of opportunities lay ahead for the people of Jhamjad Pada.
